2007 May 06	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Paris Hilton has been found guilty of felony-first-degree vapid -- "No one in Los Angeles is above the law," said Los Angeles city attorney Rocky Delgadillo.</li> </ul>
2007 Apr 29	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• US Congress has given immunity to an aide of Attorney-general Gonzales -- "part of a rapid-fire schedule Democrats have set to compel Bush Administration officials,</li> </ul>

	among them Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice, to testify" about a range of issues.
2007 Apr 22	↓ The Vermont Senate in a 16-9 vote mentions "abuse of public trust" in a motion to impeach President Bush and Vice-president Cheney.          Attorney-general Gonzales has apologized but some US Senators smell blood -- "Each is a fine lawyer and a dedicated professional. I regret how they were treated, and I apologize to them and to their families."          Release by the US of an alleged bomber of a Cuban aircraft has angered Cuba -- "for that reason, Mr. Bush, you are as much of a terrorist as Posada Carriles and his accomplices."
2007 Apr 15	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Karl Rove assumed the e-mails wanted by an enquiry into (prejudicial) dismissal of US attorneys were stored, but they seem to have been deleted. [Someone said "Nixon tapes".]</li> </ul>
2007 Apr 08	↓ [nothing significant to summarize but see links to stories in this topical area]
2007 Apr 01	↓ The first case handled by a Military Commission at Guantanamo [Cuba] ended with a Byzantine plea bargain. The Council on Foreign Relations [US] said "Around the world, many believe that the circumstances of their detention render such confessions useless." Australia's most respected newspaper, The Age, said "... a trial that was uncomfortably close to Stalinist theatre .... The best thing one can say about the process is that one day there may be a reckoning for this despicable episode ..."
2007 Mar 26	↓ Amnesty again urges the Bush Administration to abandon Military Commissions -- "The military commissions are patently tailored to fit the unlawful practices that have preceded them." Secretaries Gates and Rice are said to be at odds with Vice president Cheney and others on the issue of Guantanamo's legality.          Following recent bad behavior, the Senate has grounded the Attorney General by removing his authority to hire and fire District Attorneys.
2007 Mar 19	↓ As the scandal grows over the selective dismissal of District Attorneys, there are accusations of "politicising the justice system by firing prosecutors who did not support Republican interests." Elsewhere: "Gonzales appeared to be battling for survival ... amid a mounting political firestorm over his Justice Department's dismissal of eight U.S. federal prosecutors."          Admission by Khalid Shaikh Mohammed that he is guilty of most terrorist incidents in living memory leaves prosecutors faced with an interesting legal problem in pursuing cases against other accused.
2007 Mar 12	↓ The Bush administration has pledged swift action in the FBI security letters "scandal" -- the Attorney General said he was upset to learn the FBI did not have sufficient controls and failed to follow its own policies.          An ICJ-appointed panel of jurists -- as it has done in India and elsewhere -- criticized Pakistan's counter terrorism laws.  International Crisis Group says the future of the World Court is presently in the balance -- "by backing away from Sudan's defiance and atrocities, the international community could strip the world court of its power."
2007 Mar 05	↓ Following investigation, the International Commission of Jurists has called on India to withdraw its "draconian" anti-insurgency laws. Kenyan religious leaders call for the disbanding of the Kenyan anti-terror unit -- they say the unit is "operating illegally with the sole intention of harassing Muslim faithful." Following Canada's Supreme Court nullifying a counter-terrorism measure, the parliament has now declined to extend other provisions. The EU creates an agency for fundamental rights -- a good start says Amnesty, but despite its name the EU Agency for Fundamental Rights at presents steers clear of issues such as public security suspension of habeas corpus.  Human Rights Watch says there are still some secret CIA prisoners missing -- "The

	CIA program – and the civilian leaders who created it – have inflicted tremendous harm on the reputation, moral standing, and integrity of the United States.”
2007 Feb 26	• Canada’s top court ruled unanimously that the government had broken the Charter of Rights and Freedoms by issuing security [detention] certificates .
2007 Feb 19	↓ Lord Goldsmith, UK attorney general, spoke to an appreciative American Bar Association in Miami – any improvements in justice at Guantanamo are too little, too late

2007 Feb 05	• [nothing significant to summarize but see links to stories in this topical area]
2007 Jan 29	↓ It’s official, in the UK -- the UK Director of Public Prosecutions has said there is no “ War on Terror ” and has made a bitter attack on US practices in a speech to the Criminal Bar Association .
2007 Jan 22	↓ More UK legislators have said Guantanamo fails to meet basic British standards -- “ Washington risked undermining the Geneva Conventions by choosing unilaterally to interpret their terms and provisions ... ” The Pentagon issued rules for trials at Guantanamo -- the rules permit the admission of hearsay evidence, as well as coerced detainee statements that were obtained before Dec. 30, 2005. In the Libby trial the defense is searching for jurors who trust Vice President Cheney .

2007 Jan 08	• [nothing significant to summarize but see links to stories in this topical area]
2007 Jan 01	• Iraqis “from all three leading religious communities and all ethnic groups” volunteered in large numbers to execute Saddam. An EU spokesman said hanging Saddam was “barbaric” and suggested pardon and reconciliation was a better course. [It of course is idiocy to suggest that a pardon is a deterrent to those who would perpetrate crimes against humanity .]
2006 Dec 25	↓ Judicial Watch published a mixed-party list of “ Ten Most Wanted Corrupt Politicians ” for 2006 --“This list shows public corruption is endemic to our nation’s capital...”
2006 Dec 18	• Iraq’s legal system is not able to cope with the multitude of offences it needs to process -- killing (alleged) miscreants is easy -- doing justice is almost impossible. A new report reminded the US it needs to do better in monitoring money laundering .
2006 Dec 11	• [nothing significant to summarize but see links to stories in this topical area]
2006 Dec 04	• [nothing significant to report]
2006 Nov 27	• Former U.S. Attorney General Renô and seven other senior Justice Department officials have filed an Amicus Curiae brief questioning indefinite detention policy.
2006 Nov 20	• Amnesty ungenerously describes the plan to build a $125M “Legal Compound” at Gitmo as “a permanent homage to its failed experiment in second class justice.”
2006 Nov 13	• [nothing significant to report]
2006 Nov 06	• Federal prosecutors rejected 87% of the international terrorism referred by the FBI so far during fiscal 2006 -- the Justice Department says that is not unusual.
2006 Oct 30	• [nothing significant to report]
2006 Oct 23	• [nothing significant to report]
2006 Oct 16	↓ Is there a cleansing of US universities in the face of free speech guarantees -- is the warning by Bush’s press secretary that people should “watch what they say, watch what they do” as sinister as it sounds? At least 2,148 people were executed in 22 countries during 2005 – 94% of all known executions took place in China, Iran, Saudi Arabia and the US .

2006 Oct 02	•	[nothing significant to report]
2006 Sep 25	•	A new compromise on treatment of detainees is confusing -- "These complex provisions reflect some of the last-minute changes to broad legislation drafted by the White House and Republican lawmakers." The ICRC is finally to visit the 14 detainees who had been held in secret prisons -- "It has been a priority of ours to gain access to those people."
2006 Sep 18	↓	"The world is beginning to doubt the moral basis of our fight against terrorism." said Colin Powell ; and a majority of the Armed Services Committee agreed — separately, the British Lord Chancellor condemned the Guantanamo process. Christian Science Monitor examined whether there are still undisclosed detainees , and the issues underlying the question of torture — some CIA officers were said to be buying liability insurance in case of future legal difficulties.
2006 Sep 11	↑	A debate continues in the Senate and elsewhere on whether Guantanamo accused should have a right to know the evidence against them — consistent with repeated UN demands, 14 detainees in "secret" custody have now been transferred to military custody at Guantanamo Bay .
2006 Sep 04	•	[nothing significant to report]
